FATAL AND DAMAGING STORM IN LOS ANGELES.

SAN GABRIEL VALLEY.

Houses Wrecked, Lives Lost and Property Destroyed by a Hurricane.

Los Angeles, December 15th.—In addition to the demolition by the storm of hotels, houses and roofs in the San Gabriel valley, reported Tuesday night, by far the greatest disaster, entailing as it did the death of two persons and the serious injury to a number of others, occurred at Crescenta, a small settlement about twelve miles north of this place.

The new hotel at this place, begun eight months since, was finished two weeks ago and Edwin M. Arnold, a recent arrival from the East, took charge of it as manager. His family, consisting of a wife and two daughters, ten and three years of age, live with him, occupying rooms on the lower floor. About sixteen guests were housed in the building. The house was built, as almost all frame buildings are in this section, simply rising from the ground, without anchoring or piling.

The building showed signs of straining under the gale during Monday and Tuesday night, and it was determined to brace it when the storm abated sufficiently. The guests and Mr. Arnold's family also made up their minds during Tuesday night to keep up they would leave the house at the first indication of its weakening and seek shelter behind a large rock in the vicinity.

About half-past twelve, Mr. Arnold, fearing a catastrophe, told his wife to dress herself and children, and they would go to the rock, as it was hazardous to remain any longer in the rocking building. He also extinguished the lamp and lit several candles. The storm then broke down and a howling gale of wind and rain, with a howling of the timbers and walls began to appear. Again urging his wife to make haste, he went toward the front door to take the chances for their escape were.

THE BUILDING GOES DOWN.

He had just reached the door and was about to open it, when, in an instant, he was struck by a crashing wind, and the sound of falling planks and splintered timbers. It took him but a moment to realize that the house had fallen and that he himself had been struck down and imprisoned in a mass of debris. His efforts to release himself were futile. He told his agency, above the street, that the storm, he could hear shouts for help. Not knowing how his wife and children had fared, and not being able to get out, he was intensified by finding his most strenuous struggles to loosen himself fruitless. He was truly miserable.

The cries and screams for help of the guests in the hotel finally brought a neighbor named Holley to the scene of the wreck. Mr. Arnold was the first to attract his attention. Mr. Holley, after considerable work, managed to remove the fragments of wreckage, and Arnold crawled out. It was with a great fear that he searched for his family.

Above the noise of the wind he could hear the voice of his baby crying; "Oh, papa, oh, papa, where are you, papa?" The man worked with a giant's strength to clear away the fragments impeding his way. He called loudly on his wife and children, but only once he heard the feeble reiteration of his baby's cry for him. Otherwise there came no reply but the noisy growl of wind.

After an hour's work Mr. Arnold, by the help of neighbors cleared a passage-way for the family. They were found under the timbers and, to all appearances, dead.

THE ARMY DISCOVERY.

Mr. Arnold, with almost maniacal strength, removed the debris and last of all a heavy plank lying across his wife's neck. Blood oozed from wounds in her temple. The husband lifted his wife's head on his knee, and weeping like a child called on her to answer him. Her only response was a weak "My dear, where are you, my baby?" With her lips moving, as if for long these words, she expired.

The ten-year-old Claudia, who was dead when found. The baby lay in the bed, but although severely cut about the head and covered with blood, it was safe. The mother and child were removed to shelter, and the work of rescuing the inmates then continued, and after several hours all were accounted for. No one escaped without injury, and in many instances escape from death was miraculous.

A. L. Berry, who was in the second story of the house, was thrown out of a window and lay on the ground as the debris fell down, but got off with a few bruises.

Neighbors attended the wounded all night. When day broke and the scene of the calamity could be seen, a mass of piled up broken boards and bricks was all that remained of the hotel of the day before.

OTHER DISASTERS.

Two other houses in close proximity had been flattened to the earth. Fences and railroads had been torn up, and scores of ditches of yards. The ground was covered with wreckage, the course of the storm being plainly marked.

Mr. Arnold came to this city with his little child. He was prostrated with grief, and in his despair he even contemplated death every moment or two. His battered face and tattered clothes, the latter torn by the falling wreckage, told their own story.

The coroner held an inquest yesterday, and the jury returned a verdict that in their opinion the construction of the building was most unsafe, and that it was insufficiently braced.

The storm of the past few days without doubt one of the heaviest ever experienced in Southern California. Telegraph lines and telephone lines are down, and reports of devastation are being received from all directions. In addition to the hotel, which cost $10,000, many other losses are estimated at $15,000.

Many people forsake their homes and sought refuge in the school-house at Glendale. Several cottages were prostrated at Paquima.

In San Fernando valley the loss is $5,000. At San Fernando the roof of the warehouse was lifted off and landed across the street.

At Lodi the new hotel was completely blown down last night, entailing a loss of $10,000.

At Rialto several houses were overturned and a number of persons injured.

At Cucamonga the depot is almost a total wreck, the new hotel is down, and the number of stores, buildings and cottages lying down.

The entire country between here and Colton has been scourged by a mowing machine.

Cucamonga has literally been swept out of existence, the inhabitants fleeing for their lives to neighboring settlements.

At many places along the railroad trains were boarded by fugitives from wrecked houses, begging for food, and what personal property they valued or were able to save.

The orange crop has received the most serious damage. At Riverside, San Bern, and many of the trees have been literally uprooted.

It will take this portion of the State some time to recover from this disastrous occurrence.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

CHALMERS' REPORT.

Garland's Special Agent Unveils His Pandora Box.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—[Special.]—The report of the Attorney-General's special agent, Mr. Chalmers, on his investigation of the United States judicial officers in California, was made public to-day.

Chalmers is the only person who has been appointed to investigate the judges of the country, and both the President and Attorney-General have been present at the public and both the President and Attorney-General have been present at the public and both the President and Attorney-General have been present at the public.

In the first place, the accounts of the Federal judicial officers of the coast have been ascertained to be absolutely correct. Chalmers has, however, made a report which involves—if not the integrity—at least the competence of the United States District Attorney and Judge Sawyer and Hoffman. Mr. Carey is alleged to be incompetent, and not to have administered his office in a capable manner.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY HAS WRITTEN to friends, expressing his desire to meet and answer all charges that may be laid against him. He intimates that the opposition with which he is obliged to contend is inspired by political enemies, and is the outcome of the old stock Convention fight.

Sawyer and Hoffman are concerned. Chalmers tells what he knows and has been informed of the fees obtained as a result of the latest campaign. The bill directed by the United States Courts in San Francisco. These judges, in their recent statement given to the public, say that from the time of the passage of the Act of 1882 up to April 1, 1887, only 1,482 Chinese have been admitted to the country under the rulings of the Act, as against 1,841 admitted by Customs officers. During that period, the judges say, 46,689 Chinese left the country, and 46,689 Chinese left the country.

Chalmers' report is assuredly adverse to the methods of administering justice in the United States on the Pacific coast, but until the report itself is made public it is impossible to accurately state its contents.

TOWARD THE ARCTIC.

Senator Hays' Bill to Run a Railroad to Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—Senator Hays to-day introduced a bill to facilitate and develop the resources of Alaska, and to open an overland commercial route between the United States and Asia.

The bill directs a line to be run from the mouth of the Yukon to the Behring Sea. The survey is to be begun at or near Spokan Falls, on the main line to be continued north and west to a desirable harbor. It is estimated that a desirable harbor is appropriated for the survey.

THE TARIFF ISSUE.

Representative Morrow Thinks Republicans Should Unite for Action.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—Representative Morrow is of the opinion that the Republican Representatives in Congress should formulate some plan of joint action to further the tariff issue with Cleveland in the line of legislation mapped out by him in his annual message. Morrow believes that the Republicans in the House cannot well afford to refuse to vote against the consideration of a bill to revise the tariff, and that it is a logical step to take to outline some bill that will protect the surplus of the Treasury and still maintain the protection of the tariff for which the party has so often fought.

SILVER-TONGUED.

Senator Stewart Makes an Argument on His Silver Certificate Bill.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—Senator Stewart made a speech in the Senate to-day, providing for the issue of coin certificates in exchange for silver.

He began with an outline of the history of the use of the precious metals as money from ancient times down to the present day, and he traced the history of mining in the Western Continent and the United States.

Also, to facilitate the settlement and development of the resources of Alaska, and to open an overland commercial route between the United States and Asia.

By George—to protect interstate commerce in the Territories and District of Columbia.

By Hays—to extend the general land and mining laws over the Territory of Alaska. Also, to facilitate the settlement and development of the resources of Alaska, and to open an overland commercial route between the United States and Asia.

A resolution offered some days ago by Phelan was taken up, directing the Attorney-General to investigate the issue of a patent to Magnus Swenson, in connection with the manufacture of sugar from sorghum, and if found to commence suit to have the patent cancelled.

After a long debate in which Edmunds, Phelan, Hearst, Sherman, and Call, Teller and others took part, a motion to refer was rejected, and the resolution adopted.

The Senate then turned to the bill introduced by Stewart last Monday to provide for the issue of coin certificates, to circulate in exchange for silver.

At the close of his remarks the bill was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Senate then went into executive session, and soon afterward adjourned till Monday.

Lamar's Objectionable Age.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—[Special.]—The nomination of Lamar to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court is reported to be in jeopardy. It is said that the nomination was referred, which may delay his confirmation. Mr. Lamar is sixty-two years of age, and there is objection on the part of some Senators to the selection to be Judge of the United States Court, which is a life position, of a man over sixty years of age.

A Bank Employee Who Had Been Stealing for Twenty-five Years.

PHILADELPHIA, December 15th.—Joseph Knight, bookkeeper for the Manufacturers' National Bank, was taken before United States Commissioner Edwards this afternoon on a charge of stealing from the bank between $50,000 and $70,000.

It is said Knight had been appropriating to his own use the bank's money for nearly twenty-five years. Mr. Knight was bookkeeper of the bank for thirty-five years, and has always been considered a trustworthy man.

John W. Mailey, President of the bank, said he first discovered that the books were being misused on the 9th of this month. The balance sheet did not come out correct within about $20,000.

TOO REALISTIC.

A Young Lady Driven to Insanity by a Stage Tragedy.

WASHINGTON, December 15th.—During the performance of "Article 47," by Clara Morris, at the Grand Opera House to-night, Annie Horton, great-granddaughter of John C. Calhoun, who is now an employee in the Postoffice Department, became violently insane during the scene in which Clara is shot by George Duhamel. Five or six persons in the audience were taken to the hospital.

DODGE-KENDALL.

A Scalper Who Wants to Scalp Another Scalper.

A man who loans out money at 5 and 10 percent per month is generally looked upon as a tough customer, and no one ever falls into his clutches except members of the Legislature and other inebriated individuals who are always in straitened circumstances and to whom a few dollars is worth more to-day than would ten dollars be to-morrow. During a session of the Legislature, Dodge and Kendall, two young men who are not at all inebriated, but who are shrewdly business men, panned out exceedingly well. They were the bankers for the lawmakers and dodged the power of attorney of the latter for his warrant and returning only

ONE HED FOR EVERY TWO that he pulled down from the State Treasury. They were doing a good business; they were prospering; they were young Napoleons of finance, and, reaching out, they gathered in State officials, legislators and nearly all the employees of the State Printing Office and book-binders. Once in a while the old law-maker or the scheming committee clerk would sell his time for the same month to two different parties; but this did not bankrupt the scalping firm; they managed to get away occasionally, and usually made no fuss about such trifles, but only bore down a little more heavily upon the wretched more honest. As was said before, business prospered, and wishing to enlarge their field of operations and increase their capital, they took into their partnership a young man by the name of Edward M. Simpson. They had but little trouble in convincing him that their firm showed him a short and direct route to affluence, and he went in, taking with him $2,000 in gold coin. Simpson was to be book-keeper. He had been in but a short time until he told his father that he was a victim of misplaced confidence. That he was engaged in business in a respectable firm he had entered.

A REGULAR "ROBBERS' BOSS." His father, a gentleman of high standing, ordered his son at once to get out of their clutches, even if he had to lose all his money. Simpson donny, however, refused to give him any satisfaction, claiming that the money had been lost in bad speculation. They went to the parents and represented to them that their son had foolishly squandered his money in foolish living, etc. This, however, did not satisfy them, so the father of the lad said, all proved to be fabrications. Desiring to get the money which belonged to his son, the father went to the Sacramento Bank, where Kendall was employed, and says he laid the matter before the cashier, that institution. After a while Kendall and Dodge had a row, and to put it in Dodge's own language, it was a "robbery" against him. Dodge became so angry that he said he would expose the whole "robbery" scheme. He went to the elder Simpson and

CONFERRED THE WHOLE BUSINESS. He said Kendall had proposed various plans for robbing the bank. The first plan was to make false entries in the books, but it was concluded that the young man knew too much of book-keeping to admit of the successful carrying out of such a scheme. The next plan proposed was to break into the safe at night and steal the contents, leaving the impression that the cashier and burglars had done the job. This scheme met with such favor that Dodge was dispatched to San Francisco to procure the tools. However, Kendall, he says, declined that the plan was too risky, and that they would be unable to completely cover up their tracks. It was then that murder was proposed, so Dodge says, by Kendall. The plans were made and freely discussed. In order to beat young Simpson out of his money he was to be detained in the office at night, and a man named China Shoo, Dodge says Kendall remarked "that is the safest way."

MEAN MEN'S REAL TALK. Out of school," Mr. Simpson asked Dodge to go with him to the police station and repeat this cold-blooded statement to the authorities, and he did so, relating all the facts to the Chief of Police and City Attorney. The next day Simpson's son to his room, showed him the burglar tools he had procured in San Francisco when it was proposed to break open the safe, and turned the "robber's boss" over to the Chief of Police, who has since retained it in his possession.

AGAIN DID MR. SIMPSON APPEAL to the Sacramento Bank, asking them to compel their employee to disgorge his ill-gotten wealth, but they declined that Kendall was kept there by Mrs. Ross, and they had no control over his finances and could not discharge him, no matter how much they might desire to do so.

A PLAIN FEISTLE. Mr. Simpson then wrote the following letter to the officers of the Sacramento Bank:

Gentlemen: In my interview with you in regard to the matter of the ill-gotten wealth of inducing my son to become a partner with him, I have given you to understand that I can possibly proceed at present, and not being aware of any action being taken by you, I take the liberty to come to you to-day to make a calm consideration of the matter in hopes that some action will be taken to compel Kendall to disgorge his ill-gotten gains that he has deliberately robbed me of.

Now, this is a bare-facile on the part of Kendall, and for proof you can find those same claims in the People's Saving Bank, the property of Charles Dodge, that he accepted in settlement with Kendall for their false value, leaving the so-called time of the ill-gotten gains of about one hundred dollars.

Let Kendall show to you gentlemen, before proof where all the profits during the time the Legislature was in session being in the neighborhood of eleven thousand dollars, went to that when my son desired to get out of his hands and asked for his money, he offered three hundred dollars cash and his note for eight hundred.

This is the action of the honest bank clerk, Kendall, and but a slight recompense for the two thousand dollars that was put in this firm, and I will also state to you that he endeavored to get two thousand dollars, which would, I doubt, have gone with the rest in Kendall's books to his use.

Gentlemen, you say you must have proof or you cannot to any extent compel this man to make my bank good. Now, gentlemen, I am a large stockholder in your bank and have considerable power in the management of the same, but you do not take into consideration the fact that the profits of this bank are derived from the interest on the money that you have loaned out, and I do not doubt a large portion of this state, have a large interest in the same, and you are not to be protected as well as those of Mrs. Ross, and can you afford to have these matters, under these conditions, would have a perfect right to leave and neither of his bondsmen would be liable for one dollar. "Who is to blame in this matter?"

THE ART EXHIBITION.

A Large and Successful Commencement Display by the School of Design.

At the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery last night the Sacramento School of Design held its second annual art exhibition. In all respects it was a brilliant affair, and art classes in the State had a more satisfactory commencement exhibition. Between six and seven hundred ladies and gentlemen visited the rooms during the evening, and the expressions of pleasure, surprise and pride in this Sacramento institution of the California and Oregon Railroad, will leave San Francisco at 4 o'clock this afternoon. LOCAL BRIEFITIES.

A storekeeper advertises for ten red-headed boys.

An electric lamp must have been placed at Sixth and H streets. The giver has fallen considerably, and at present marks seven feet six inches. Harry Luft, a despondent fimschik, is believed to be crazy, and friends are afraid he will commit suicide. Yolo county desires to give Sacramento the town of Washington. Throw in Davisville, neighbor, and we will take it. The Northern California Railroad Company has settled its taxes with the State, paying into the treasury $1,950.94. The street-railroad proposition has broken out afresh in a woodshed. The Yolo-Rio took upon it as a woodshed chestnut.

John Schleicher, a native of Germany, was admitted to citizenship yesterday by Judge Armstrong, on the testimony of Charles Wahl and J. Schaefer. Raphael Vasquez, common drunk; Geo. Chapman, embezzlement; W. S. Kendall, forger and petty thief, constituted the slate at the police station at midnight. The only case on the calendar in the Police Court yesterday was that of Richard Wilson, charged with being drunk. The defendant forfeited his deposit by not appearing.

The box-sheet for the McNeill concert will be opened at the Metropolitan Theater at noon on Monday next, instead of at Houghton's bookstore, as heretofore announced.

Yesterday morning, while going to the repair shops, a huge twelve-wheeler became derailed, and the combined efforts of three engines for one hour were required to put her on the track. The statement made a few days ago that Nellie McDowell was taken to San Francisco on a charge of insanity was incorrect. A bench warrant was served upon her for the purpose of procuring her as a witness in a case.

The average Signal Service temperature yesterday was 46°, being 2° cooler than the normal for that day. The highest and lowest temperature was 66° and 36°, with a light breeze from the north, and cloudy to clear weather prevailing.

Yesterday morning a man named James McLean, who resided at Sixth and U streets, was found dead in his residence. He was lying across a chair, his head and feet on the floor. It is believed by the coroner's jury that death resulted from alcoholism.

The house and lot raffled off on Tuesday by S. Ginsberg was won by Charles W. Davis, of Colusa, Tehama county. Davis claims to have lost over $2,000 by this lottery scheme. Mr. Davis has secured a residence at No. 1000 N street, worth $5,000, for a $1 investment.

H. M. Van Arman, agent of the Southern Pacific Company at Chicago, met a number of citizens yesterday at the Association rooms and addressed them on immigration matters. His remarks, which were witty and to the point, will be given in another issue.

It is reported that the bums in this city have a new way of supporting themselves. They are doing in one way half as well as to do in order to get money was to go over to Yolo and let some Constable arrest him. The commitment was always withheld, and the defendant comes out $50 richer each time.

C. Waterhouse, of the firm of Waterhouse & Lester, and Charles Givens, of Jones & Givens, will leave San Francisco to-day for San Dimas, Durango, Mexico, to visit their mine, La Candelaria. This is their second trip to Mexico. They have been in operation hundreds of years. The owners are sanguine of success. Modern improved American machinery has been for some time at work, under the supervision of D. M. Burns, with gratifying results.

New Suits. Charles Heisen has commenced suit in the Superior Court against Jacob Greiner to obtain a judgment against the latter for $750, and $350 additional for attorney's fees. The grounds of the suit are that in September last Jacob Greiner and E. J. Miller entered into an agreement whereby Greiner, in consideration of certain covenants, agreed to pay Miller $250 for procuring a judgment against one Michael Greiner for Greiner for $7,383.33, and Greiner further agreed should he in any way delay or hinder the obtaining of the judgment, or if he should withdraw from the agreement, that he should pay Miller the sum of $250.

Examination Exercises. The examination of the preparatory class in the Christian Brothers College, took place yesterday. The following programme was rendered: Hymn, "With Hearts Truly Grateful," singing class; examination, catechism; recitations; James McArthur, E. J. Heise, A. F. Ruhl, C. W. Reed, song, "Happy Be Thy Days," A. C. McDonald; examination, spelling; song, "Two Ragged Uzbeks," H. E. Hunsicker; recitations; E. J. Dooly; L. Dunn, W. M. Nichols, Sonoma; Julius Weyand, Indian Valley; Colusa county; M. E. Sanborn, Yuba City; Charles M. Carey, Marysville; S. A. Doyle, Colusa; J. J. Lassin, county; William Nagle, Red Bluff.
